Impressions of Nature

the pointillist work of Arti Saxena

Sarraceniagallery.com, March 27 - April 30 , 2021

The Sarracenia Gallery presents the work of Mumbai-based pointillist artist Arti Saxena in the gallery's second virtual exhibition.

Nature's influence on the subconscious is the primary focus of Saxena's work, which offers a refreshing take on impressionist masters like Van Gogh and Monet. Her vibrant palette combined with serene subject matter, which includes both nature and man-made creations sets up a compelling tension, vibrating with energy and at the same time creating a cohesive and peaceful oasis that invites the viewer to stop be lulled into a meditative state. It is this "interaction of human creations, the elements of nature and the many dimensions created thus" that continues to fascinate Saxena, and which clearly fascinates her collectors as well.

Arti Saxena

Arti Saxena is a Mumbai, India based pointillist artist.

Born into a military family and raised in cities across the country, her earliest influence was her father, a military doctor who painted for the joy of it. Her extensive international travels and life abroad along with her mentorship with renowned artist Kisalay Vora have inspired her artistic journey, manifested in her own fresh and unique interpretation of the style of her impressionist and neo impressionist heroes.
